Cambodia
Downs Plane,
8 Men Killed

By JOHN T. WHEELER
BAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Air Force C123 transport shot down near the Vietnamese Cambodian frontier Saturday was hit while inadvertently flying over Cambodian territory, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said today. Eight Americans perished in the unarmed craft.

The spokesman said, armed helicopters sent to the area Sunday in an operation to recover the bodies also was fired on from Cambodia. They returned the fire. Seven bodies were picked up. The eighth has not been found.

Wreckage of the transport is strewn along a hill about 250 yards inside Viet Nam 170 miles north of Saigon. Guerrillas had stripped the plane of its insignia and looted the bodies of personal effects.

The embassy spokesman said the C123 overflight of Cambodian territory apparently was due to difficulty in border identification and bad weather during a supply-dropping mission.

He said that, while the United States regrets the overflight, "it should be pointed out that C123s are unarmed transport aircraft and the C123 involved in this particular mission was unarmed."

A U.S. soldier on a motorboat patrol near the frontier was killed Tuesday night in a guerrilla ambush. He was the 24th American killed in combat in South Viet Nam since December 1961.

Faubus Again
Brings Up Cemetery

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus resumed here Tuesday night his charge that Winthrop Rockefeller employs wrecked a Lonoke County cemetery, and Faubus said he was prepared to stake his re-election bid on the bet that he was right.

Faubus said he would appoint an impartial panel to determine whether his charge is accurate. Aides to Rockefeller, the Republican candidate for governor, have denied Faubus' charge.

The governor had said employees of Southern Rice Farms, which Rockefeller owns, bulldozed the cemetery. Rockefeller replied that the employees actually had protected the cemetery from harm, although one corner of it, hidden by high weeds, was accidentally run over by a bulldozer.

Faubus said he would quit the race if found to be in error, provided Rockefeller would quit the race if the charge was upheld.

About 400 persons listened as Faubus spoke from the Miller County Courthouse lawn. Four youngsters in the crowd carried Rockefeller placards. Faubus said they had been paid to do it. The children replied that they had not been paid, but that they were members of a Teenage Republicans Club.

Texarkana was the last stop on Faubus' campaign tour, which also touched Kirby, Nashville, Murfreesboro and Glenwood.

At Nashville, Faubus told about 500 persons that "a rich man who inherited his wealth can't possibly understand the problems of us poor people."

Faubus climbed atop the hood of his car to speak to a large group of school children gathered along Arkansas 27 at Kirby.

He spoke for about 10 minutes citing accomplishments of his administration, and then told the children, "Now remember this, because someday you might want to tell your children that you talked to a governor who stood on top of a car that ran against a Rockefeller."

College Polls
for Rockefeller

Two straw votes Tuesday indicate that collegians agree with Republican Winthrop Rockefeller when he says it's time for a change.

Rockefeller out-pollied Gov. Orval E. Faubus in mock elections on the campuses of the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville and the College of the Ozarks at Clarksville.

At Fayetteville, Rockefeller won overwhelmingly: 1,065-351. At Clarksville, it was Rockefeller, 250-198.

President Johnson won 235-117 over Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater at Clarksville, but Goldwater carried the U of A 793-601.

No other issues were involved at the university, but at Ozarks the proposed amendment to legalize casino gambling in Garland County came out ahead, 178-134.

Port Group
Not Happy
Over Report

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—New laws are being drawn to give railroads more equitable treatment, the chairman of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee reports.

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., told the American Association of Port Authorities Tuesday that President Johnson is having the legislation prepared.

The port executives did not receive the news happily. Minutes after Harris' speech, W. J. Amoss, chairman of the association's committee on national transportation policy and director of the Port of New Orleans, said the new bill will be opposed "unless it is fair to all modes of transportation."

Harris said the laws probably will be similar to the transport bill killed in the last Congress. That bill, which died in the rules committee, would have peeled away some Interstate Commerce Commission railroad regulations on certain freight which trucks and boats handle on an unregulated basis.

Thomas P. Guerin, Portland, Ore., outgoing president of the port authorities group, said he felt that any new bill ought to extend regulations to all methods of transport.

In his talk, Harris said his committee had worked on the transport bill for five years and was stunned when it met loud opposition from interests such as the ports authorities.

Amos said the main objection was the lifting of regulations off the railroads.

Harris said some changes were being made in the new legislation.

"President Johnson wanted me to reintroduce the same bill," he said. "But I saw some things in it that weren't particularly right."

Natural Habitat for Bores Is a Cocktail Party But Business
Offices Have Their Share Too

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Bores are where you find them.

The cocktail party is supposed to be the natural habitat of the bore in the United States, but he proliferates in other places, too—the average business office, for example.

If you look around your own office you may find typical of the following indoor bores that make up part of the curse of the working class:

Harry Hoary—Old Harry has been with the company 99 years or so and remembers when he had to ride to work by horseback and fight bears on the way. Harry has kept his jaws so busy telling how tough life was in the old days that he hasn't got around to doing his job since 1947, the year of the big snow.

Perry Parasite—This touring termite circles the office all day stealing whatever he needs—from paper clips to ideas. Whatever he needs to help him get by, he takes from others. He would rather purloin a pencil off your desk than go sharpen one himself. In any decent civilization Perry would be behind bars as a petty larcenist.

Basil Bigears—After Basil was rejected by the CIA, he became the self-appointed office spy. He hangs around the men's washroom and whenever one of the hired hands denounces management because of the poor quality of the paper towels, he runs to the personnel director and informs.

Glenn Heller—This twitchy little dame thinks of herself as a femme fatale. She can't keep her mind on the job, or her hands off the boys. Whenever one of the married men dictates a letter to her, he has an uneasy feeling he is about to be caught in a love nest. But after six months she elopes with a plumb-er.

J. Morgan Gasser—J. Morgan is a junior executive who has decided honey catches more flies than vinegar—and so does banana oil. His weapon is praise. But instead of making himself popular, J. Morgan is regarded as the biggest creep in the place. Because everyone knows he couldn't be as good as J. Morgan says he is.

Andy Handy—Andy is a hobbyist bore who wants you to share his joy. One week he collects old lampshades, the next week he is learning to make hooked rugs with his teeth. "You can do it, too—it's easy," he says.

Samuel Stonehart—"Chuckling Sam," as the big boss is known behind his back, is the king of tedium for only one reason: Whenever you ask him for a merit raise, he comes up with 12 reasons why he can't give you one, including the fact that if your work doesn't improve, the firm may fail within the year.

Do you recognize any of these familiar office bores? If you do, remember one thing. Sometimes it takes one to know one.

Will Not Play
Game of War,
Johnson Says

By FRANK CORMIER
LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)

President Johnson, who claims he is wrapping election issues around Barry Goldwater's neck, said today he will "not play the war game of bluff and bluster."

Johnson bore down on questions of war and peace in a speech prepared for an outdoor audience at Albuquerque, N.M., start of a day-long tour through the West that actually was aimed primarily at voters in Southern California.

The President's strongest language was prepared for the New Mexico crowd.

He said: "The stakes in the election are success and survival. The issues are recklessness or responsibility."

Going on to stress issues each which he says find him and Goldwater far apart, Johnson concluded, in his stiffest language: "We cannot and we will not play the war game of bluff and bluster. That risk is too great."

Before swinging into the West, Johnson made a quick tour of the Northeast Tuesday night. In Pittsburgh's ultra-modern Civic Auditorium, he delivered one of the most surprising speeches of his campaign.

Ticking off a series of major policy questions, including the civil rights law, Johnson said with direct reference to Goldwater: "These are all issues in this campaign, and we are wrapping them right around his neck."

The President later, speaking off the cuff, cited a newspaper advertisement—reputedly by Goldwater—which he said claims that his administration seeks laws that would make

Calls Faubus
False Friend of the Needy

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller lashed Gov. Orval E. Faubus here Tuesday night as a false friend of the needy and charged the Faubus Administration as being wasteful with state funds.

The welfare rolls now are no bigger than they were in 1954, when Faubus became governor, Rockefeller said, but the cost of administering the welfare program has gone from $1.5 million to $3.9 million.

"If my opponent is as concerned about our senior citizens as he seems to be why was that $2.5 million used for administrative purposes rather than put in the pockets of those who needed it?" Rockefeller asked.

The crowd, estimated at 2,000, cheered him frequently and Rockefeller continued his active attack on Faubus.

He said that state employees are given state credit cards almost indiscriminately and that one state employee admitted having three credit cards signed by no department head.

Rockett proposed a review of the financial status of the state's disabled veterans.

"I am not recommending a bonus," he said. "I do not feel that the majority of veterans whose lives and future have not been damaged by their experience would demand a bonus in the face of all the things the state needs."

"But we need a review of the status of disabled veterans in Arkansas to see if the state does not owe them some assistance," he said.

"For a lot of them, the load of school books and school lunches is very great," he said. "It is time the state of Arkansas recognizes the needs of our veterans and becomes concerned about some of our veterans who had ill fortune."

Rockett proposed to work with veterans organizations to find out what the state can do for those who are on small pensions and have large families.

He restated his promise to give Arkansas State College studied consideration as a second state university "but let us make it a university in fact, not in name only."

Rockett said that expansion and encouragement of the Department of Education will be "No. 1 on my list when I take over as governor of our state of Arkansas."

Sincerely,
JOHN T. HONEYCUTT

LBJ's Running
Mate Lashed
by Goldwater

By WALTER R. MEARS
CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP)

Sen. Barry Goldwater said today President Johnson "kidnaped the Democratic party" for eventual delivery to Socialists when he chose Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey as his running mate.

The Republican nominee for the White House hammered away at his charge that Johnson is hungry for power, and accused the President of trying to frighten people into voting for him.

"I charge," the Arizona senator said, "that the Johnson machine is driven by lust for power, by fear of the exposure of wrongdoing in high places, by fear of punishment and by hope of special privilege."

Goldwater alternated between defense and attack in a speech prepared for a rally at Cedar (Continued on Page Two)

Regional Meet of Jr.
Auxiliary

Mrs. Albert Graves, Mrs. Crit Stuart, Jr., and Mrs. E. P. Young, Jr. will represent the Hope Chapter of Junior Auxiliary at a one-day regional meeting at Arkansas State Teachers College in Conway on Thursday, October 29, with the Conway Chapter serving as hosts.

Ferris Baker, Associate Professor of Sociology, Hendrix College, and Sociological Consultant at the Mental Health Planning Authority, will be the principal speaker on Thursday afternoon. Following the meeting, there will be a tour of the Arkansas Children's Colony which the local Chapter supports by sponsoring one Colony child each year. The National Association of Junior Auxiliaries annually awards three graduate scholarships to students for further training and study in speech therapy, mental retardation and related fields in preparation for future work with children of special needs.

Locally, the Junior Auxiliary at present is conducting its annual visual-aud project of testing eyes of all Paisley, Garland, and Brookwood students.

With the support of the interested citizens of Hope, the Auxiliary was able to raise the money for a $500 scholarship, awarded each spring to a Hope High School graduate, at a spaghetti supper which they sponsored earlier this month.

Following the eye clinic, the Chapter's next project will be to assist with the United Fund drive.

Honeycutt
Announces for Coroner

The Star has been authorized to announce the candidacy of John T. Honeycutt, Democrat, for the office of Coroner.

To the voters of Hempstead County, Arkansas: I am a native of Hempstead County, a veteran of WW II and have been employed as funeral director and licensed embalmer for the Herndon-Cornelius Funeral Home for the past 18 years.

I am a graduate of the St. Louis College of Mortuary Science where I studied human anatomy, Mortuary law and other necessary subjects relating to this profession. I feel that I am fully qualified to perform the duties of this important office. However, should an occasion arise that expert medical advice is needed, the State of Arkansas has a full time medical examiner whose decision on these matters along with the coroner's jury is final.

There are many other duties of the Coroner, other than to conduct inquests. The Coroner is a peace officer, and has authority to make an arrest, to recognize witnesses to appear in court, and in the event the Sheriff is disqualified, he replaces the Sheriff as the Chief Arresting Officer of the county.

If I am elected, I shall endeavor to discharge the duties of the office of Coroner in the proper and legal manner at all times.

I will greatly appreciate your vote and influence on November 3, 1964.

Sincerely,
JOHN T. HONEYCUTT

Lafayette ginnings totaled 796 as compared to 3,691 a year ago. The crop is expected to be about the same but the harvest is much later.

GM Strike
Continues at 28 Plants

DETROIT (AP) — Crippling local-level strikes continued today at 28 General Motors plants, but the automaking giant at least was getting a trickle of new cars out.

The United Auto Workers Union called off a 31-day nationwide strike against GM Sunday, but it permitted bargaining units still without at-the-plant working agreements to stay off the job in support of local demands.

There have been three local-level settlements since then. Thus 25 of the 130 bargaining units in GM's farflung operations still have no at-the-plant working agreements to supplement the new UAW-GM national contract.

The Pontiac Motors Division at Pontiac, Mich., and the Buick Division at Flint, Mich., now have new cars rolling off assembly lines. So has a Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plant at Kansas City, Kan.

A total of 21 assembly plants or related Fisher body plants still are closed by unresolved local disputes. Also still shut is the Hydra-Matic Division at nearby Willow Run, which builds automatic transmissions for all GM cars.

Assessors
Complain
on Tax Loss

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Assessors complained here Tuesday that loopholes in state laws and lack of cooperation by local revenue offices cause loss of thousands of tax dollars.

Assessor James H. Rumph told the Arkansas Assessor Institute that there should be a law requiring contractors to submit with their bids on public projects proof that their equipment has been assessed for taxes.

Assessor Floyd Johnson of Pope County said he had trouble convincing his local revenue office not to issue license vehicle plates before the applicant makes proof of assessment, as required by law.

Rumph said many contractors move their equipment in and out of the state and evade taxes.

Assessor James E. Sullivan of Ashley County told the institute that many motorists failed to assess their pickup trucks along with cars when applying for car licenses in January.

Sullivan said by having the pink vehicle registration slip stamped when vehicles were assessed, he had put 500 more trucks and cars on the books.

Negroes happy, jobwise, and white people glum.

"I want to meet that one head on," he said.

"That is pure, dirty racism and propaganda that is being passed around. There is not any bill that Congress ever passed that takes any job away from anybody."

Johnson said some people "put out a lot of words to try to smear and fear and scare people who are working by saying that some other man is going to get his job."

He went on to relate that his wife Lady Bird had told him that an Alabama worker approached her on her Southern whistle stop tour and said: "I have been thinking about this problem a lot, and they have put out a lot of stories about what has happened. But I believe that I would rather have a Negro stand beside me on an assembly line than to stand behind me in a soup line."

The President said, "We are not going to say that the good Lord intended that the tall men should be treated different than the short men or that the white men should be treated differently from the black men or the brown men, because if we do, we are outnumbered."

He said no one ought ever "choose to fight it out on the basis of color" because if they did, "the white folks are in trouble, I tell you that."

Today, in a text readied for delivery from the steps of the Los Angeles City Hall, Johnson said his election would mean the nation will "go forward to a future of horizons unlimited."

"We are going full speed ahead. We are not going back to a past of muddling and make-believe, mudslinging politics and muddled policy."

Johnson said his first horizon was to seek "unlimited opportunity for everyone of our people, regardless of race or creed or language or origin."

He went on to speak of every child absorbing the best education in his grasp, "the horizon of personal security," which he said would include medical care for the aged under Social Security, a horizon of discovery in space and on earth and, finally, the unlimited horizon of universal peace."

Would Group Four State Departments

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An accounting firm hired by Arkansas Republicans suggests replacing the offices of state treasurer, auditor, secretary of state and land commissioner with a single Department of Administration.

This was one of the recommendations in a report issued over the weekend by the firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.

The Committee for the Two-Party System hired the firm to study state government. I found that slack fiscal control and costly duplication of accounting were costing the taxpayers money unnecessarily.

"There is a lack of coordination and uniformity of accounting and data processing which makes the day-to-day administration of the state's fiscal affairs more difficult and results in internal control deficiencies," the report said.

"Duplication of effort as it currently exists throughout the state is uneconomic and inefficient."

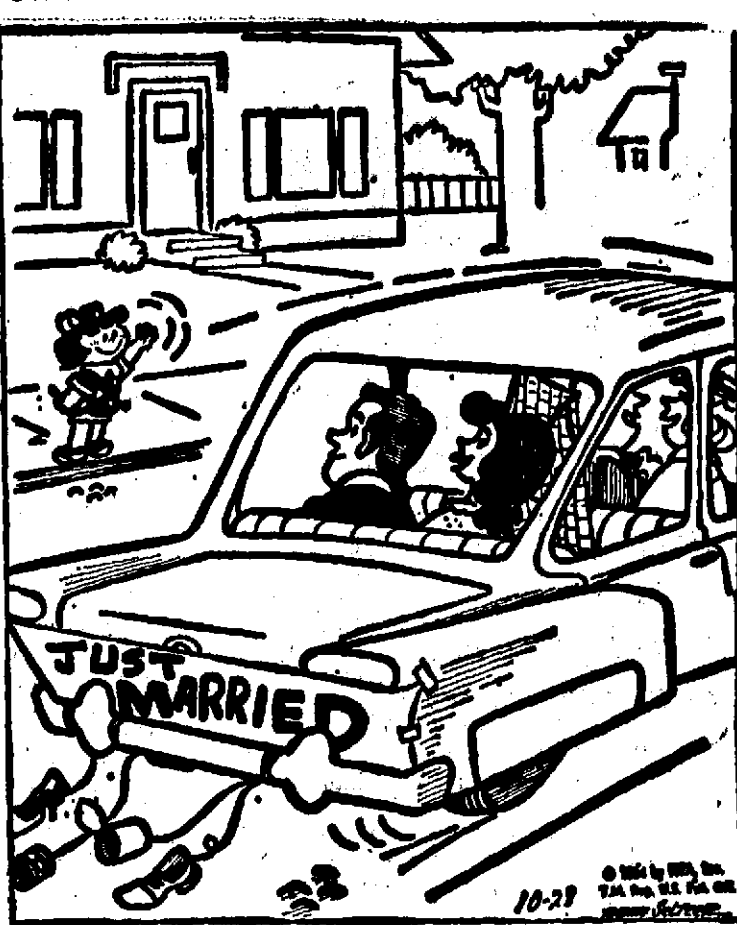

"The complexity of the state's organization coupled with an intricate fund structure precludes effective budgetary control."

Glenn F. Rogers, partner in the Arkansas office of the auditing firm, said similar findings have been made in other states, including Illinois and Nebraska.

The proposed Department of Administration would be headed by an appointee of the governor. The department would have various divisions headed

Air and Rail Recovery Aids Confidence

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Recovery of such once-ailing industries as the railroads and airlines has done much of late to boost confidence throughout the business world.

Also notably healthy in comparison with previous profit-loss statements are the textile, paper and farm implement makers. Chemicals, too, are marching ahead now after a period of marking time.

Each industry has its own set of circumstances to thank now — or to blame awhile back. All have also been helped to higher gross earnings by the general upswing in business.

The federal cut in corporate income tax rates, along with more favorable rules for figuring depreciation, has raised net incomes for many.

Rails are particularly bright just now in comparison with last year's financial statements. They have been helped by various cost trimming measures, including labor rulings by regulatory bodies. They are buoyed by mergers taking form or proposed, that should cut costs even more.

And the rails now are getting the benefits of new equipment and efficiency changes, as well as by tax relief. But above all perhaps they owe their better showing to the general business upswing that has brought more customers.

Even more impressive is the gain of the 11 domestic airlines. Their combined earnings in the first half of 1964 were 10 times larger than in the like 1963 period.

by career employees.

Rogers said the report does not mean that the current elective office-holders are not doing their jobs as well as possible. It is the structure and not the personnel being questioned, he said.

It would take a constitutional amendment to change the system.

The new department would have centralized responsibility for all basic staff functions, such as purchasing, accounting, data processing, systems and procedures, personnel, facilities planning and office services.

The report also recommends repeal of the Revenue Stabilization Act, which was passed to restrict the level of expenditures to a cash basis. The study said the act is "an unnecessarily complicated method of attempting to control state finance and budgeting." It fails because it only provides for formula allotments of funds on a cash basis rather than establishing control on budgeted expenditure requirements.

od. The Air Transport Association puts the 1964 total at $52.3 million, compared with $5.1 million the year before.

Chief reason for the current increase is that last year the airlines were still burdened with payments for their new jets.

This year their fare collections suffer little such drain. And passenger totals have climbed.

Many chemical companies are now shaking off earlier industry troubles. A year ago their financial statements revealed the inroads of competition, overexpansion of some facilities, rising production costs and consequently declining profit margins.

But this summer's returns show net profits ahead of last year in all the early reports.

Tobacco companies have been having their well-publicized troubles. But the latest profit figures are topping last year's for Liggett & Myers, U.S. Tobacco, American Tobacco, Lorillard and Consolidated Cigar.

Most paper companies are reporting higher sales and profits, and less trouble with surplus facilities. Textiles also have swung almost unanimously to the upside in early profit statements.

President Johnson was to be in town for a speech this morning, and Albuquerque's banks, in the interest of security, announced they would remain closed until he leaves.

Johnson, he said, "has failed to arouse real grass roots support for his candidacy."

Goldwater declared Republicans have that kind support, and said the backing of small newspapers and of "close to one million" small contributors demonstrate it.

The senator said of Johnson: "He has the support of many traditional Democrats who accept his party label, without looking beyond it to see that in handpicking Hubert Humphrey as his successor he has kidnapped the Democratic party — tied it up in a neat bundle for eventual delivery to the Americans for Democratic Action, the most effective radical socialist organization in the land."

Goldwater had been chopping away at Humphrey all week. "Every time I think of the small possibility that the President might be re-elected, I shake," he said in London, Ky., Tuesday. "But when I think of Hubert, I really get the trembles."

Goldwater complained that Johnson has "the support of many good and honest people who, even though they are heartsick at the moral blackout in the Johnson administration, nevertheless have been swayed by one of the most immoral actions of all — the big lies of the administration."

He said Johnson misrepresents his positions, and will not debate campaign questions. In Cleveland, Tuesday night, Goldwater tackled the question of civil rights, arguing that the busing of schoolchildren from one neighborhood to another for the sake of racial balance is "doctrinaire and misguided equalitarianism."

That drew a wild ovation from a crowd estimated at 12,000 — in a city which has seen rioting over the issue.

Renewing a theme he has underscored on nationwide television, Goldwater added: "Our aim, as I understand it, is neither to establish a segregated society nor to establish an integrated society. Our aim is to preserve a free society."

Goldwater drew scattered crowds along a motorcade route in Cleveland, and faced empty seats in the balcony when he spoke at Public Hall. But police said there were enough people standing elsewhere in the hall to fill all 12,000 seats.

In his Cedar Rapids speech, Goldwater said bureaucrats and bosses are arrayed behind Johnson's candidacy.

"We may not have the polls or the powers that be on our side — but we have the people," the senator said. "And if they vote without fear, without coercion, if they vote on the basis of the deep, heartfelt convictions we have seen everywhere in this land — November is going to produce the greatest political upset of this century."

"Even Dear Lawrence Welk and Mr. Downs. It's going to be a long dull fall."

"Mr. Novak," NBC's weekly dramatic tribute to the school teachers, took up the delicate subject of high school football fatalities Tuesday night — but falkated cautiously all around it without touching the core of the matter.

The plot centered on a tough coach whose star player was killed in a scrimmage. The story then backed away from the problem of injury or death in connection with the sport and concentrated on the coach's reaction.

No. 56 Is to Up Salaries of Officials

By JOHN R. STARR

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Discouraged by two straight defeats, the 1963 Arkansas Legislature refused to resubmit a proposed constitutional amendment to raise maximum salaries of county officials.

The Young Democrats of Arkansas—probably with encouragement from county officials—stepped into the gap, circulating petitions which brought proposed Amendment 56 to the ballot Nov. 3.

The proposal is a virtual rewrite of one section of a proposed salary amendment which was defeated in 1962. The 1962 proposal also included a raise for state officials. This is in a separate proposed amendment this year.

A 1960 amendment which covered raises for state, county and city officials also was defeated.

The 1964 proposal presents a graduated scale of salaries, dependent on the size of the county. And it has a different scale for the two top officials — the county judge and sheriff — than for others.

All county officials now are limited by the constitution to pay of $5,000 a year. The maximum pay under Amendment 56 would be $9,800 a year — for county judges and sheriffs in Class I (over 50,000 population) counties. Other officials in the Class I counties could be paid ment to raise maximum salaries of county officials.

All of the raises are permissible. The quorum courts would have to grant the increases before they would be effective.

In Class II counties (30,000 to 50,000 population), the pay scales would be $9,500 for sheriffs and judges, $8,500 for others; in class III (20,000 to 30,000) it would be $9,000 for sheriffs-judges, $8,100 for others; in Class IV (9,900 to 200,000 population) $8,500 for sheriffs-judges, $7,650 for others; and in Class V (under 9,900 population) $8,000 for sheriffs-judges and $5,400 for others.

There is no open campaign for or against the proposal. County officials, who believe they deserve a raise but don't want to make too much noise in an election year, are quietly supporting it.

The Young Democrats said the present salary limitations are unrealistic by modern pay standards. The point out that common laborers can earn $5,000 a year on many of today's jobs.

TO YOUR SENSE OF FAIR PLAY . . .

In the governor's race you will notice that the Rockefeller side is meeting with the people everywhere and discussing issues . . . more jobs, better roads, better education, and all the rest.

The Faubus side is engaged in a dirty, mud-slinging fear and smear campaign including every kind of bitter personal vilification and character assassination known to the printing press and to rumor and hearsay.

In American politics, it is right to disagree about issues, plans and platforms. Win Rockefeller and hundreds of thousands of other Arkansans have a healthy disagreement with the arrogant policies of the old administration.

But the Rockefeller campaign has never questioned the motives of the governor nor his grandfather, nor has the slightest question ever been asked about his morals, his private life, or his honest dedication to what he believes is good for Arkansas.

The Faubus campaign against Win Rockefeller, on the other hand, has been below the belt, and will get worse as new falsehoods are invented. Win Rockefeller, his wife and his family have been slandered on a personal basis with falsehoods. His firm stand on Civil Rights has been the subject of misleading pamphlets.

False or misleading statements have been made about Winrock Farms rice acreage allotments. A preposterous new false rumor may be started that Win Rockefeller plans to build an integrated resort in the Bull Shoals area.

The Governor has held a meeting of clergymen in the Governor's mansion itself where further false and filthy personal attacks were made on Win Rockefeller. This appears to be an attempt to enlist our men of God and the pulpits of Arkansas in this massive and un-Christian assault on the character and reputation of one of Arkansas' finest citizens.

Some of these personal assaults — those that are printable — are being mailed in blank envelopes so that the cowards who are responsible for it will only have to face their consciences and their God, not a mortal court of laws.

We who stand for the right in this campaign are following the traditional American rules of fair play plus the command of honesty demanded by the Holy Word in the Ninth Commandment (Exodus 20:16) as well . . . "thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

We urge you to reject those who bear false witness at the polls on November 3. If you do, fair play will return to our beloved state along with decent, respectful government.

Lady Bird in Two Talks Arkansas

By BILL SIMMONS
And
JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writers

Mrs. Lyndon Baines Johnson, a hard-working First Lady on the campaign trail, swept into Fort Smith and Little Rock Tuesday, dedicating a national memorial and a home for retired teachers.

She came as Lady Bird, a veteran campaigner, and, much like the President, she headed for the crowds as soon as she alighted from her motorcade.

The crowds loved her. They cheered enthusiastically, begging for a handshake, while bands blared the Democratic Party campaign theme, "Hello, Lyndon."

But Mrs. Johnson, losing to a tight schedule, was more than an hour late at each of her destinations, and many persons among the thousands that turned out to see her had gone by the time she arrived at each stop.

She wore a smile, but was obviously worn and weary from the two-day campaign trip through Texas, Oklahoma, Indiana and Arkansas.

"Hello, Lady Bird" and "Welcome, Lady Bird" banners, "LBJ for the USA" and "Johnson-Humphrey for the USA" placards acclaimed the First Lady and the Democratic national ticket.

Mrs. Johnson captivated the audiences with her Southern accent, her praise for Arkansas, its officials, and her sentimental gifts.

She handed an ancient school bell to Ralph Jones, president of the Arkansas Retired Teachers Association, in dedicating a net yet constructed $1.5 million home for retired teachers at Little Rock.

Mrs. Johnson said the bell came from a school at Mountain Home "just like the little one-room school I used to go to."

She reminded her audience that the President is a retired school teacher from the Houston, Tex., system.

At Fort Smith, where about 5,000 greeted her along a five-mile motorcade route and in the city, Mrs. Johnson read a proclamation officially dedicating as a historic site the famous courthouse of "Hanging Judge" Isaac Parker, who frequently sent men to the gallows while dispensing justice as a U.S. District Court Judge in Indian Territory from 1875 to 1896.

The new campaign gimmick — the "whistlestop tour whistle" — shrilled amid the applause at the high points of Mrs. Johnson's speech at Little Rock.

A few signs boosting Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater appeared in each city, but they were in a vast minority.

Mrs. Johnson told the crowds that she was a "Democrat, and proud of it" and she said Arkansas has a powerful Democratic delegation in Congress. All of the members of the delegation were with Mrs. Johnson on one or the other of her stops in Arkansas.

Also accompanying the First Lady were three cabinet wives, Mrs. Orville Freeman, wife of the agriculture secretary; Mrs. Robert McNamara, wife of the defense secretary; and Mrs. W. Willard Wirtz, wife of the labor secretary.

Mrs. Orval E. Faubus also was with Mrs. Johnson, and for servicemen and some government employees.

The girls at Wheaton set out to raise the $100 needed for a trip from Boston to Columbia and back.

They dressed in patriotic colors Tuesday and dropped money into a wagon normally used to collect leaves. The total collected was $130.

Candy wouldn't disclose her political affiliation. She carried a stuffed donkey under one arm — and a stuffed elephant under the other.

The Gambling Bill

Editor The Star: Your readers and I have been highly insulted by a pamphlet which we have received from the Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce.

Our honesty has been insulted by what the pamphlet calls our "misguided" concern over the probable effect, casino gambling would have on the crime rate in Hot Springs. It says that comparative F.B.I. statistics should be adjusted to allow for transients, but what it does not tell is that one of the two biggest problems facing Nevada police is juvenile delinquency — and no imagination stretching can make those kids "transients."

Our state pride has been insulted by the claim that millions of visitors would be attracted here by turning Garland County into a slot-machine-with-bath. Even if Arkansas had absolutely nothing else to offer, (which is not true), I would not want my home overrun by that kind of people.

The other major problem for Nevada police is narcotics addicts and pushers; these probably are transients — and we can do without that kind of "visitor."

Our intelligence has been insulted by the claim that Amendment 55 would assure wagering on a "high plane" and that each casino would play fair in reporting its own figures for taxing purposes. In the only other state that has tried it, the plane has been so high, that the authorities can't even find out which underworld characters for whom the local people are fronts. Since there is no product involved, the tax men have no way of knowing just what the take, actually is, but they are certain that there is an annual rake-off of millions of dollars never reported by the fair-minded boys on the "high plane."

Our sense of decency has been insulted by the great financial reward we're promised for voting for Amendment 55. Sure there would be an income, and sure the State could use the money, but look: I have a beautiful wife and four lovely daughters, and the quickest and easiest way I can think of to pocket some cash would be to hire them out as prostitutes. Sure there would be an income, and sure I could use the money — but that would never make it "right."

Finally, our faith in democracy has been insulted by the threat that if the people of this State say "no" to this kind of gambling, some people in one county will have it anyway. "The only consideration," says the Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce, "is whether it will be legal or illegal." I believe that the will of the majority will demand the third alternative which the pamphlet so conveniently overlooks: that closing the casinos in compliance with the law will be "the only consideration."

Though I have no funds for a state-wide mailing, I hope that your readers will join me in objecting to these insults by marking a ballot "against" Amendment 55.

followed the First Lady as she shook hands with persons crowding against the barriers around the speaker's platform.

It was almost dark when Mrs. Johnson arrived at Little Rock, and darkness had come before she finished her speech. Banners around the platform were being removed before she left.

She made one last pass along the restraining barriers, grasping hands, smiling and waving in the glow of the headlights in the cars waiting to bear her and her party away.

"DEAR ABBY"

SHE SWUNG—AND MISSED!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: I have been dating a golf pro for the past six months and he has been giving me golf lessons free of charge. On our third date he asked me to marry him, but said that due to some financial reasons he would have to postpone marrying me for about a year. Hoping to hasten the marriage, I let him have about $500. I just found out that he has been dating another girl and giving her golf lessons for nothing. Now I realize that he was only using me, but I must admit he improved my golf game a lot. I have too much pride to tell our club president, but I would like to get my money back. How?

DUMB BLONDE
Dear Blonde: Forget your pride and tell the club president that his golf pro is under par in more ways than one. And don't get so palsy-walsy with professional swingers again unless you can remember to keep your head down and your eye on the purse!

Dear Abby: In your reply to "Worn Out," the mother of 10 who was expecting her 11th, you say, "If it is not contrary to your religion, call your Planned Parenthood Center." To my knowledge, the Planned Parenthood program is not contrary to any religion. If the woman is Roman Catholic, her local Planned Parenthood group will give her complete instruction in birth control, as approved by her church.

Sincerely,
MRS. R.F.C.
Dear Mrs. R. F. C.: You are 100 per cent correct, and I thank you for pointing out this important distinction. And while we are on the subject, the Planned Parenthood organization is dedicated to all phases of family planning. They will also help couples who want children, but appear unable to have them.

Dear Abby: I guess most of all I just want to get this problem off my chest. My darling mother should and would love to own a pretty wedding ring that she can be proud of. My Dad has given her two cheap sets that she wore completely through on the underside. She's now wearing her mother's plain gold band to show she's married. My father is far from rich, but he could well afford to buy mother a nice wedding ring with a few chip diamonds in it. Mother deserves the ring and she wants one, but she doesn't want to ask him for it. Would it be all right for her (her married daughter) to buy her one?

BIG D FAN
Dear Fan: If you don't know your father well enough to say, "Look, Dad, Mother wants a nice wedding band, so let's shop for one," then you should get better acquainted with your father. A wedding ring is more than a piece of jewelry, and it's a husband's privilege (and no one else's) to provide his wife with one.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

We will appreciate your vote and support for John T. Honeycutt, Democratic Candidate for Coroner of Hempstead County, on November 3, 1964.

Notre Dame Is Picked to Lick the Middies

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
TOKYO (AP) — If you dig a hole from Tokyo right through the earth you will come out on the 50-yard line of Philadelphia Stadium, where Navy and unbeaten Notre Dame meet in their annual football soiree on Saturday.

Here are this week's picks: Notre Dame over Navy: The Irish have a defense that will keep Roger Staubach in check long enough for John Huarte and Jack Snow to get their aerial circus into action.

Georgia Tech over Duke: The Blue Devils' victory string ends on their home grounds.

Ohio State over Iowa: The Buckeye line yields ground grudgingly while their Willard Sander picks it up in big chunks.

Southern California over Washington: The Huskies are the West Coast's biggest disappointment.

Texas over Southern Methodist: The Longhorn halfback corps is big, lean, hard and speedy. In addition, Jimmy Hudson is becoming a top-flight quarterback.

Michigan over Northwestern: Michigan's line problems have evaporated.

Alabama over Mississippi State: Alabama has a trio of first rate quarterbacks in Joe Namath, Steve Sloan and Wayne Trimble.

Nebraska over Missouri: In all probability, the Big Eight title goes to the winner.

Louisiana State over Mississippi: The home field gives LSU a tiny edge.

California over UCLA: Craig Morton is one of the season's best passers.

Florida over Auburn: A tight squeeze.

Peace Group Is Staging a Boat-in MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Five peace marchers are staging a boat-in at the Coast Guard dock here.

The marchers, members of the Committee for non-violent Action and Quebec-to-Cuba peace march, sailed for Cuba Tuesday in a 24-foot launch to protest war and the U.S. ban on travel to Cuba.

A short distance out, they were stopped by the Coast Guard, which confiscated their boat and towed it to the dock on orders of the U.S. attorney general.

The demonstrators refused to leave the boat. "We'll never leave voluntarily," said Bradford Lyttle, 36, skipper of the launch. "This is the Caribbean wall. We have the right to travel. It's as bad as East Berlin."

Others aboard the boat were Erica Nezer, 38, a former Chicago medical technician; Mar-

Trinity players lead the conference in four of the six categories.

Les Obie of Trinity is the total offense leader with 587 yards on 111 plays.

John Jones of Trinity tops in pass receiving with 21 catches for 218 yards and Obie is the passing leader with 54 completions in 100 attempts for 540 yards and three touchdowns.

Obert Logan of Trinity, who is second in pass receiving with 18 snafes for 199 yards, is the scoring leader with 36 points.

Al Smith of Arlington State tops the punters with 43.3 yards average on 31 kicks.

Whittenberg Top Small College Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Whittenberg University Tigers topped The Associated Press small college football poll today for the fifth straight week.

The unbeaten Tigers whipped Denison 40-14 last Saturday for their sixth straight victory and topped the voting by The AP panel of 15 sports writers and broadcasters with 129 points.

They received seven first-place votes, four seconds, two thirds, one seventh and one eighth.

Prairie View of Texas continued its upward climb with two victories and nosed out Florida A&M for the No. 2 spot in the Top Ten with 95 points to 92 for the Rattlers. A week ago Monday Prairie View defeated Wiley and on Saturday demolished Arkansas AM&N 31-13. Florida A&M edged Tennessee State 22-20.

Texas A&I jumped from seventh to fourth after a 13-12 triumph over Lamar Tech while Youngstown moved up from eighth into a tie for fifth with Louisiana Tech. Youngstown downed Baldwin Wallace 26-6 while Louisiana Tech beat Northwestern Louisiana 16-7.

Rounding out the Top Ten are San Diego State, No. 7, followed by Susquehanna, Los Angeles State and Massachusetts and Minnesota Concordia, the last two tied for 10th.

Jackson Off to Good Pro Cage Start

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Lucius Jackson must have brought some of that Olympic goodwill back from Tokyo with him.

Jackson, the 6-foot-9 star of the U.S. basketball championship game victory over Russia last week, exhibited peace-loving tendencies in his first National Basketball Association game Tuesday night.

They came during a fight that erupted between Jackson's Philadelphia teammate, Dave Gambee, and St. Louis' Charley Vaughan. When Gambee and Vaughan started swinging at each other at one end of the court, players from both benches rushed to join in.

Not Jackson, though. "I was standing there keeping more guys from getting on the pile," the 240-pounder explained afterward. "I was watching."

That was about the only time during the game, though, that Jackson stood stout around watching.

The rookie from Pan American College made his presence felt, particularly under the boards in Philadelphia's 100-81 victory over the previously undefeated Hawks. Boston crushed New York 131-103 in the second game of the doubleheader.

Lamb Back in Practice

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

Coach Frank Broyles called Tuesday's Arkansas football practice a marked improvement from recent ones. He said the fourth-ranked Razorbacks are getting fired up for the November grind of four straight Southwest Conference foes.

Texas A&M presents the next challenge to the unbeaten and untied Hogs. That will be Saturday night in College Station, Tex.

"We've been the favorite when we've gone to College Station a few times, but we've had some of the toughest games we've ever had down there," he said.

He said the Aggies have a strong defense and confidence in their offense.

Jerry Lamb, sidelined by a pulled muscle in the 14-13 upset of Texas, worked out briefly in sweat clothes Tuesday. Broyles has not decided whether Lamb will play against A&M. Lamb missed Arkansas' 17-0 victory over Wichita State last Saturday.

Foldberg hasn't been downhearted.

"Our youngsters showed against Baylor that they're beginning to mature," he said. "They're playing like juniors now. We know they had the ability but also knew it would take time for them to become seasoned players."

Foldberg wouldn't be surprised if the boys reached football maturity Saturday night and knocked over Arkansas. "If we get a break or two we could do it," he said.

California Back Takes Top Honor

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Craig Fertig, quarterback for the University of Southern California Trojans, was named Back of the Week today by The Associated Press.

Fertig threw four touchdown passes and over-all completed 21 of 29 passes for 371 yards in a 26-21 victory over California last Saturday as the Trojans bounced back from their defeat at the hands of Ohio State the previous week.

In the last two minutes of play Fertig completed six straight passes for 95 yards, the last for 22 yards and the winning TD. In addition he averaged 37.6 yards on punts.

Bill Wolski, Notre Dame halfback; Jim Grabowski, Illinois fullback and Bob Schweickert, Virginia Tech. quarterback, were high up in the weekly voting by sports writers and broadcasters.

Wolski rushed 18 times for 102 yards and scored three touchdowns as the Irish beat Stanford. One of his TD's was a 54-yard pass from John Huarte.

Grabowski also scored three touchdowns on runs of 33, nine and four yards. Altogether he rushed 171 yards on 27 carries against UCLA. This was the most Illini rushing yardage in one game since Abe Woodson's 181 against Minnesota eight years ago.

Schweickert scored two of Tech's touchdowns in an upset of Florida State. In addition he passed for the third touchdown and punted eight times for a 47.4-yard average to keep the Seminoles penned in their own territory much of the time.

A&M Figuring on Knocking Off Arkansas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M isn't worrying about ratings. Bowl games are the least of its thoughts. The Southwest Conference championship is long out of reach.

Texas A&M just wants to win a game. From whom makes no difference.

The Aggies aren't discriminatory — they just as soon beat Arkansas as anybody. Nothing personal, understand, but Arkansas happens to be the next team coming up on the schedule.

The Aggies haven't won one since November of 1963. Seven defeats have been tacked up and they're tired of it.

They've lost six straight this season. Four of them were by five points or less. The other one they lost 10-0 and the sixth was 31-7 to Southern California.

The Southern Cal game was something you couldn't explain. The other games all could have been won by the Aggies with a break or two here and there — and the absence of some sophomore stunts.

There are 20 sophomores playing in every game. The sophs pushed out some veterans, which might seem poor strategy. Except, that the sophomores are better players than the juniors and seniors and Coach Hank Foldberg is thinking of the future.

The future might arrive Saturday night when the Aggies meet Arkansas, the only undefeated, untied team left in the Southwest Conference and an outfit that's eyeing a high rating, bowl game and a possible national championship.

The Razorbacks beat defending national champion Texas 14-13. The Aggies almost beat them last Thanksgiving Day.

But the Aggies haven't played that kind of ball this season as Foldberg tried to work his sophomores into a smooth unit. It was just recently that he found the kind of quarterback he needed. He was Eddie McKaughan, who has been able to move the team with himself as the spearhead. He ran for 100 yards and passed for 72 against Baylor and the Aggies would have won except for a sophomoreish stunt in the clutch — a bad pitchback.

But Foldberg hasn't been downhearted.

"Our youngsters showed against Baylor that they're beginning to mature," he said. "They're playing like juniors now. We know they had the ability but also knew it would take time for them to become seasoned players."

Foldberg wouldn't be surprised if the boys reached football maturity Saturday night and knocked over Arkansas. "If we get a break or two we could do it," he said.

Prairie View Sews Up Championship

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Prairie View, on a six-game winning streak, has virtually sewed up the championship of the Southwestern Athletic Conference.

The Panthers smashed Wiley 39-13 and Arkansas AM&N 31-13 last week for their fourth and fifth conference victories. They rest this week before embarking on the final two games.

Grambling beat Jackson State 47-26 to hang in second place in the conference standings. The Tigers play Texas Southern at Houston Saturday and if they lost that one Prairie View would have at least a tie for the championship clinched.

Texas Southern rapped Wiley 40-20 and Alcorn clipped Southern 21-3 in other games.

Jackson State plays Wiley at Marshall, Southern University is at Tennessee State and Alcorn clashes with Arkansas AM&N Saturday.

Campaign by Faubus Called 'Shallow'

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller said here Monday night that Gov. Orval E. Faubus has turned this gubernatorial campaign in to "the most shallow I have ever seen" by dodging discussions of the issues.

"He refuses to discuss issues," Rockefeller said. "He concentrates on personalities. He doesn't want to discuss what his 10-year administration has not done."

The Municipal Auditorium was sparsely settled by 225 persons, some of them workers in the Republican organization. They applauded Rockefeller's 30-minute speech 34 times and laughed loudly three times when he ridiculed Faubus' campaign tactics.

"The campaign last week reached a new low when I was charged with wrecking cemeteries," Rockefeller said. "This is something beyond comprehension. The facts show that this was simply a lie."

Faubus had charged that employees of Southern Rice Farms, which Rockefeller owns, had bulldozed a Lonoke County cemetery. Rockefeller denied the charge and said his employees protected the cemetery from damage.

"One of my campaign aides suggested to me that the administration complained because it was difficult finding the names on the tombstones to pay poll taxes for them," Rockefeller chuckled.

"I have noted that I think it appropriate that the governor gave a campaign speech in Ronjo Cemetery (near Texarkana)," he said. "I believe he should go and report to his voters."

Rockefeller said that Faubus has continually attacked him for "not being born in need."

"But because I have never wanted does not mean that I cannot recognize need," Rockefeller said. "I fail to see the importance of the price of coal oil in 1910; I fail to see the importance of whether I eat chili or not; I cannot see how it is important that I don't ride a boxcar to the West Coast and surely do not need to do that to understand that we have road and highway problems right here in Arkansas."

Faubus has charged that a

Democratic legislature would not work with a Republican governor, but Rockefeller told the crowd, "You have been electing people to the legislature to look after your interests and I believe most of them are there to see about your interests, no matter who is governor."

"There are one or two (legislators) that I could do without," he said with a smile. "But I believe that if they refuse to look after your interests you will find it in your hearts to throw them out, too."

"There is one legislator — whose first name is Paul," Rockefeller said, and the laughter and oh — hos indicated the crowd knew he meant Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsen. "We had a rally in his county, whose population is just under 5,000, and the press conservatively estimated the crowd we had at about 2,000."

"Now, I tell you, we can win," Rockefeller said. "It's time for a change. It's time to return the government to the people. The people are tired of this entrenched machine."

He said that he has traveled through Arkansas in this campaign "a distance equal to a trip around the world, meeting the people, because the people are the mighty future of Arkansas."

"But my opponent has gone from smoky room to smoky room, from courthouse to courthouse, in secret meetings, greasing and oiling the machine," Rockefeller said.

"There is nothing wrong with the people of Arkansas," he said. "They have ability and confidence in themselves. They want new leadership to take them where they know they can go with planning and imagination."

"We will do more in the next two years with imagination than has been done in the past 10 years without imagination," Rockefeller said.

He jokingly talked of Faubus' "finding" $2 million to give school teachers a $50 raise "before he was aware that he had an opponent who believed in the two-party system."

Faubus has since said teachers will get raises of $1,000 to $1,500 each next year.

Rockefeller again charged that the state's share of the checks received by welfare recipients has not increased enough in the past 10 years. He said Faubus "implies in letters to welfare recipients that their check is a personal grant from his administration and, if they don't vote for him the money

"He has something to do with Fort Knox, where they keep the hidden taxes!"

will be cut off."

"I promise you that when I am elected governor I will take the welfare program out of politics," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller made a passing reference to Van Dalsen and said, "We need not buffoons in the legislature, but serious people concerned about the welfare of our state."

He also said that there are "dedicated, career men and women in our education department who have not been permitted to do the job they know needs to be done."

Rockefeller said that Arkansas ranks "far, far down the list" in expenditures for education per pupil, but "Arkansas is No. 1 in the cost of administration of educational systems in the nation."

"This is not fair to our children," he said. "We cannot ignore the requirements of education. When I am elected governor, we will strengthen the department of education so that our children can be ready to go out into a competitive world."

After the speech, Rockefeller circulated among the crowd, shaking hands. His wife, Jeanette, was on the stage with him.

Today, Rockefeller has scheduled stops at Paragould and Jonesboro. He will be on live television at Jonesboro tonight. A taped television show will be aired at El Dorado tonight.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Viewers are likely to become more and more grateful that there is at least one program of the quality of CBS' "The Defenders," as we move deeper into the current television season.

Its scripts range broadly from the warm and sentimental, like the excellent "700-Year-Old Gang" a few weeks back, to the broadly humorous, like Thursday night's "Conflict of Interest." But no matter what the mood, the material and characters are usually interesting, the treatments civilized and the production polished.

Thursday's effort, however, was pretty far out even for "The Defenders." It was based on a libel suit brought by an explosive avant garde playwright against a rather silly British critic. But the meat of the story was the battle of wits between a clever woman lawyer and the father-son team of attorneys.

Usually, E. G. Marshall's role is that of stern and relentless defense counsel, with an assist from Robert Reed, who plays his son. Perhaps the program strained one's credulity in suggesting that junior was really a big naive kid. It was hard to believe the established character could be so completely taken in by the pretty lady lawyer's very obvious femme fatale tactics.

But it was all in good fun and a nice change of pace for the performers and audience.

The hard-luck show of the season is CBS' "The Entertainers." The variety hour got off to a wobbly start with poor material. When it was beginning to shake down, Carol Burnett, its top star, entered a hospital for protracted treatment of a neck and back injury.

Imogene Coca, scheduled to guest star tonight, turned an ankle Wednesday night and will appear, if possible, in a wheelchair.

But she will be unable to do a proposed comedy sketch ironically called "Nurses and Doctors."

Soviet Rulers Meet With Red Leaders

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin's new leaders continued a series of meetings with foreign Communist party officials today to try to quiet the spreading unrest over the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev.

Khrushchev's successors announced they had conferred with the Communist chiefs of Poland as Red delegations from France, Austria and Italy converged on the Soviet capital to find out why Khrushchev was dumped as premier and Communist chief and what lies ahead.

Reports circulated in Moscow that Mikhail A. Suslov, the top Communist theoretician who led the attack on Khrushchev, has been hospitalized with kidney trouble and a recurrence of tuberculosis. Some non-Communist observers suggested his illness might be primarily political.

The Kremlin's explanation that the 70-year-old premier lary Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin traveled to the Polish border to confer with Polish Communist party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka, and Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz. The Soviet news agency Tass said the meeting took place "the other day" at the border town of Bielovesh Pushcha.

A delegation of the French Communist party, which has declared it wants to know the truth about Khrushchev's feat, arrived in Moscow over the weekend. An Austrian Red mission arrives today and representatives of the Big Italian party are expected Tuesday.

Hungary's Communist party echoed the Kremlin position Sunday with criticism of "regrettable mistakes" during Khrushchev's regime. But the Budapest communique praised the fallen leader's fight against Stalinism and his campaign for peaceful coexistence.

The Communist hierarchies of Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Poland have praised Khrushchev since the terse Soviet announcement Oct. 16 that he had been ousted.

Johnson Gives Goldwater Backing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jim Johnson, associate justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court, made his endorsement of the Republican presidential nominee official Tuesday night.

He made a formal announcement of his position, which favors Barry Goldwater, through the Goldwater for President Headquarters here.

Johnson, a Democrat, first revealed his intention to vote for Goldwater at a recent GOP fund-raising rally here. He said he will support all Democrats, except in the presidential race.

stepped down because of age and ill health has not been accepted by the party leaders in Western Europe.

Italy's Communist party newspaper L'Unita reported from Moscow today that a "document or documents" concerning Khrushchev's ouster is expected to be made public by the middle of this week.

Although Sitting Bull is given credit for leading the Indians at the Battle of the Little Big Horn, Crazy Horse was the real Sioux leader in the battle.

TAXES GOING UP UP UP!

The tremendous need for improved state services means a tax increase — will it be another increase in the Sales Tax? Property Taxes? Gasoline Taxes? Income Taxes?

IT'S THE AVERAGE CITIZEN WHO ALWAYS PAYS!

Our personal and property tax burden is already too heavy... Arkansas' per capita income is one of the lowest in the nation but its tax burden one of the highest!

ARKANSAS' "PAINLESS" TAX SOLUTION

Amendment 55 to legalize wagering in Garland County only will produce an estimated $25,000,000.00 in new tax revenues -- $5,000,000.00 in direct taxes from wagering and $20,000,000.00 indirect taxes from increased tourist expenditures.

All state agencies and institutions will benefit as shown below:

PUBLIC SCHOOLS	$9,700,000
HIGHWAYS	$5,700,000
UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES	$3,000,000
PUBLIC WELFARE	$2,600,000
HOSPITALS	$1,800,000
COUNTY AND CITY TURNBACK	$ 900,000
ALL OTHER	$1,300,000

Amendment 55 will provide an estimated $700.00 annual increase in teachers salaries — an estimated $14.00 monthly increase in welfare payments (According to a report by Arkansas Economic Development Council).

UNDER AMENDMENT 55 ONLY GARLAND COUNTY CAN HAVE LEGAL WAGERING!

The Arkansas Attorney General's Office ruled October 22, 1964: "UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES COULD AMENDMENT 55 AND THE PROVISIONS CONTAINED THEREIN BE OPERATIVE TO LEGALIZE CASINO GAMBLING IN ANY COUNTY OTHER THAN GARLAND COUNTY, ARK."

And, Amendment 55 cannot go into effect unless it is approved by a majority vote in Garland County.

NOT A MORAL ISSUE

Rev. James S. Cox of Grace Episcopal Church, Pine Bluff, said in the Arkansas Gazette (9-15-64) that he "supported the gambling amendment because gambling is a reality and its efforts should be controlled."

Casino-type wagering has flourished in Hot Springs for 100 years, openly and illegally, to the benefit of none but the gamblers.

Goldwater Supports River Project

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — William L. Spicer, former state chairman of the Republican Party, said here Tuesday night that Sen. Barry Goldwater has telegraphed that he will support the Arkansas River navigation project if elected president.

Goldwater has voted against bills favoring the project on at least 11 occasions during the past seven years.

Spicer said Goldwater's telegram said: "I am informed that the latest

"This project is about 90 per cent completed. It has involved considerable federal investment, as well as accompanying private expenditure and planning. I would like to see it completed as rapidly as possible."

WASHINGTON (AP) — All staff employees of the White House have been asked to fill out new security applications in the wake of the Walter W. Jenkins case.

Jenkins, a top aide to President Johnson for 25 years, resigned at the President's request last week after it became known he had been arrested twice, in 1959 and earlier this month, on morals charges.

Staff members from top assistants down to stenographers were asked to fill out standard forms entitled "Security Investigation Data for Sensitive Position." Applications of this type are sent routinely to the FBI for checking against its files.

Ordinarily, the FBI makes no independent investigation in the absence of derogatory information in its files.

Questions on the form include dates and places of residence back to 1937. Except for traffic arrests carrying a fine of $30 or less, the employee is asked to list any arrests, even for investigation and questioning and for which no formal charge was filed.

Abruptly Landall closed the door. He drew a chair close to Craig's desk, his face darker. He leaned forward and spoke quietly, implying that this would be confidential between them.

"When Lew turned up here and began living with Gail, something about him began bothering me."

"What sort of thing about him?"

"It was just a tickle in the back of my mind. I knew I'd never seen him anywhere before. I thought it might be a combination of little things—the fact that he'd come from Philadelphia where he'd been a city detective, maybe his name, maybe I'd even seen his picture somewhere. Finally I decided it must go back to the time when I was still with the SK&B agency in New York. They had another office in Philadelphia. My work took me there for two or three days every month. I put up at a hotel of course I read the local papers. Then it wasn't of any importance until that money disappeared. Then I had to try to find out."

"And you did."

Landall nodded. "I phoned a friend of mine in the Philadelphia office. He said he'd run it down for me. He phoned back this morning. It'll give you something to think about."

Lew's move to Florida and his presence in Gail's home had had certain subtly disturbing effects on her, particularly on her relationship with Craig. He said, "Never mind, that Allen. You have something to tell me. Tell it."

"I didn't dream it up—the facts are there. About Lew's being a police detective, that part was true. The rest of it is a cover-up. He wasn't sick. He didn't resign. He was broken off the force. He was on the take. They caught him in possession of stolen goods. He was tried, and found guilty. Lew Hedges is an ex-convict, still on parole."

Craig drew back in his chair, controlling his unthinking, angry impulse to call Landall a liar. Landall wasn't lying.

"At that time there was quite a bit of corruption on the Philadelphia force, other scandals and a big crackdown. Lew's case was played up as a shocker because up until then he'd had a fine record. On that basis the parole board passed him as soon as he'd served his minimum term, two years. He had a hard time keeping a job up there, where everybody knew all about it, so he managed to get his parole transferred to Florida. Gail had come down here as soon as he was sent away. She'd found a promise of work for him, so the board gave permission. There's one other thing. Lew was a member of the Safe and Loft Squad. It was part of his job to know about methods of breaking and entering—and opening safes."

Even more than before, Craig felt the need for an immediate conference in depth with Velma. He steered his car out of the deliberate smear by the opposition is that I would scrap the Arkansas River project if I were elected president. This is absolutely untrue.

No. 54 Sets Up Voter Registration

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of eight articles on proposed constitutional amendments which will be on the Nov. 3 ballot.)

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The legislature took a look at voter registration in a special session last March and decided, over protests from the League of Women Voters, in favor of an annual registration system.

The system the legislature chose was ruled unconstitutional by the Arkansas Supreme Court because it eliminated the poll tax as a requirement for voting. The court said this could be done only by amendment; that the legislature couldn't do it by statute.

This left Arkansas without registration system and the league and the Committee for Voter Registration stepped in, an amendment, setting up a 3 ballot.

It is Amendment 54 and it has the endorsement of Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Winthrop Rockefeller.

Until last week it had no open opposition, but Dave Witt, a Little Rock attorney, formed a group to seek its defeat. Witt said he favors an annual system similar to that embodied in the unconstitutional Act 19 of 1964.

Amendment 54 will eliminate the poll tax as a requirement for voting. It requires comparison of signatures to safeguard against illegal voting. It has provision for a periodic purge of voting rules to guard against voting by persons who have moved away or died.

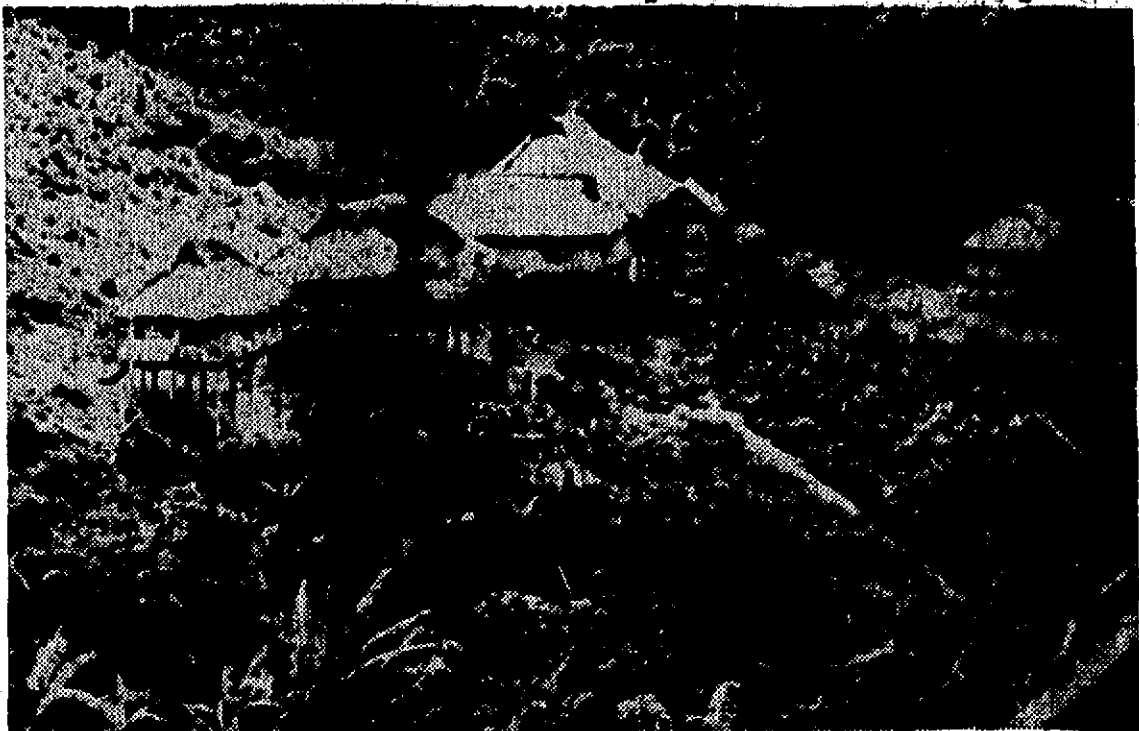

Proponents contend the amendment will be a convenience for the voter because, as long as he continues to vote regularly, one registration will last him a lifetime.

It would permit registration up to 20 days before an election. Under the current poll tax system, a voter must qualify almost a full year before the annual school election, nine months before the primaries.

It places registration duties in the office of the county clerk. County collectors now handle registration under the poll tax system and sheriffs and collectors lobbied furiously against permanent registration during the special session.

Proponents point out that similar registration systems now are in many states, including Missouri, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Louisiana. They say it closely follows the model voter registration law drawn up by the National Municipal League.

Opponents contend that a permanent system would open the door to more election irregularities. They say that annual renewal of registration (or annual payment of the poll tax) is an automatic and necessary purge of improper voters.

FAMAGUSTA, Cyprus (AP) — Rotation of half the 650 Turkish troops stationed in Cyprus began today with the arrival of the troopship Basharan.

The rotation of the Turkish contingent on the island had been an explosive issue since Greek Cypriot President Makarios threatened to halt any incoming troops by force.

Four weeks ago the Socialists replaced Erhard's party as the strongest party in communal voting in North Rhine-Westphalia, West Germany's most populous states.

Astrologers Say Stars Favor LBJ

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian astrologers have consulted the heavenly bodies and say President Johnson will win big next Tuesday.

The latest reading of the stars from India also indicates victory for Democratic Senate hopefuls Pierre Salinger in California, Edward Kennedy in Massachusetts, and Robert Kennedy in New York.

But some of Johnson's top aides — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson — will be out looking for jobs next year, according to the astrologers.

The star-reading fraternity has made a good living off this sort of thing for centuries in India. Many Indian government officials consult them frequently.

One astrologer says Johnson was born under a star grouping that assures "kingship" so he doesn't have to worry about Republican challenger Barry Goldwater.

An astrologer-priest, a Hindu who believes in reincarnation, says Johnson in one of his former lives was a Hindu holy man who "wandered the woods of northern India. On Tuesday, the priest says, Johnson will collect his just reward for this hard tour of duty."

K.N. Swamy, a south Indian astrologer who claims to have foreseen President Kennedy's assassination, says Goldwater does not have a chance because the Sun, Mercury, Saturn and a few other heavenly bodies ganged up on the Arizona senator a long time ago.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — A panel show of hybrid ancestry and designed to lighten the housewife's burden slipped unobtrusively into NBC's morning lineup Monday. Called "What's This Song?" it apparently inherited its format from "Password," and its gimmick from "Name That Tune," which departed the network scene at the time of the quiz show scandals.

The idea is to have each two-man team — the usual celebrity and civilian — name the song the orchestra is playing and then have one of them sing correctly the first two lines of the lyrics.

First team to make 200 points then must identify several tunes in a row for a bonus. It all seemed familiar.

The show replaces another game session, "Word for Word," and probably will let the housewives rip through their chores faster. At least, with this show the viewer doesn't have to watch constantly — scarcely at all, in fact.

As had been anticipated, the American Broadcasting Company made a dramatic showing in the first Nielsen audience ratings after the three major networks had launched their new fall schedules. It had five shows in Nielsen's top-10 list.

Projections of audience samples made during two weeks ending Oct. 11 show NBC's "Bonanza" is the most popular program, followed by two new comedies, ABC's "Bewitched," and CBS' "Gomer Pyle, S.M.C."

CBS' "Beverly Hillsbillies," which led the ratings for two years, skidded abruptly down the list, edged out of the top 10. Over-all, ABC had an estimated audience consisting of 20 percent of the nation's television sets; CBS, 19 and NBC, 17, according to Nielsen's numbers.

TV Crime Linked to Delinquency

By ARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee contended today that televised crime and violence is a direct cause — though not the only one — of juvenile delinquency.

In an interim report, the subcommittee said: "On the basis of expert testimony and impressive research evidence, a relationship has been conclusively established between televised crime and violence and antisocial attitudes and behavior among juvenile viewers."

But it tempered its comments by stating that it did "not believe that television is either the sole or most significant cause of juvenile delinquency."

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., chairman of the subcommittee to investigate juvenile delinquency, said that the findings are significant because "each day more than 25 million children 12 and under look at television," spending "on the average, more time watching television than they do in either school or church."

At the subcommittee's most recent hearings, the report added, network representatives "were now prepared to admit, in very general terms, that there was some kind of relationship between televised crime and violence and the molding of children's attitudes and behavior."

The subcommittee said "primary responsibility for the prevailing policy, which features excessive crime and violence, rests with the three major networks. For it is clear that the networks have the key voice in determining programming content throughout the nation."

It said the networks have shown their concern with "healthy programming" by "the adoption and updating of their television code of good practice which is administered by the National Association of Broadcasters."

But it noted that association with the code is only voluntary and that the seal of good practice "has never been withdrawn because of an infringement of the code with regard to program content."

Terror Plays Big Role in Viet Nam War

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Terror and counter-terror, persistent themes of South Viet Nam Military history for many centuries, continue to play a dominant role in the increasingly bloody war raging now.

Terror is used for interrogation, as propaganda, as punishment and as revenge. Neither the Viet Cong nor Saigon government forces have any monopoly on its use.

Terror strikes in many forms.

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Gen. Mark W. Clark, Ret., says he is "inclined to agree" with Pope Paul VI that the Benedictine Abbey at Monte Cassino "should" not have been bombed.

The Pope, speaking at the consecration of the rebuilt abbey Saturday, said the bombing was a "grave outrage."

Clark, now president of The Citadel, commanded the 5th Army during the Italian campaign of World War II. He said he would have had no compunction about destroying a work of art if it were being used by an enemy.

"But, I feel this was not true in the case of Monte Cassino," he said. "This was proved after the war."

WOLFSBURG, Germany (AP) — Germany's Lutheran dean, Heinrich Grueber, says there is a growing distrust in Israel of the West German government.

Grueber, who has just returned from a two-week visit in Israel, said chief reasons for the Israeli distrust are Bonn's reluctance to establish diplomatic relations with Tel Aviv, and the fact that German experts are working in the rocket and aircraft industries of the United Arab Republic.

A month ago, it came to a battalion of Vietnamese Rangers caught in an ambush near the Mekong River delta town of Cau Ke.

A Viet Cong unit concealed in a Buddhist pagoda opened fire on the government unit, killing 10 Rangers, including an American sergeant advising them.

A few days ago the same Ranger unit was back for an operation at the same place, spilling for revenge.

The pagoda was deserted but three likely looking suspects, all of them Vietnamese of Cambodian extraction, happened to be in the area. The Rangers picked them up.

Their arms tied behind their backs, the three men were given the "water treatment." A cloth is placed over the face of the prisoner and water is poured over the cloth, tending to suffocate the man. Just before he loses consciousness, he is released. This is repeated until he talks.

As an innovation on this operation, one of the prisoners was lowered head first into a water-pot with his hands bound.

In the mouth of one of the prisoners, Rangers found a little bag containing several human teeth carved with Buddhist symbols. Under questioning, the man said the teeth had belonged to his grandmother, and were supposed to protect him from death.

Another prisoner was rounded up and eight old villagers sitting on a log watched quietly while the four young men were tortured. Later, the prisoners were taken to the operation command post by helicopter for further questioning. They were lucky.

Chances of surviving field interrogation are often extremely poor. Death can come for prisoners under the tracks of armored vehicles, by decapitation or by bleeding to death after both hands have been chopped off, or by a bullet through the head.

It is all part of the war in South Viet Nam.
